To whom it may concern,

Romi and his team have just finished a side extension and kitchen in my home. On paper it is a straight-forward job, but as always with older houses, things are far from simple. From our very first consultation Romi was unfazed, and despite many issues such as access (we are in the middle of a terrace), and the fact that my family were to be living in during the build, he reassured me that nothing would be a problem. This calm attitude and goodwill remained throughout the job.

All of the team were extremely kind and thoughtful, skilled, dedicated, incredibly hard working and meticulously clean. Great care was taken not to let the work spread through the rest of our house, allowing us to live comfortably alongside the build.

Romi began as a renderer and tiller before perfecting bricklaying, and then specializing in lofts and extensions. There is nothing he can't do! He is backed up by his brother Danny, an excellent brickie, and Nico his gentle giant carpenter. The rest of the boys were strong and positive, and a pleasure to have in the house.

We are absolutely delighted with the finished job, a beautiful family kitchen has been created, this is very much due to Romi and his team's great care and craftsmanship.

I will definitely be using Romi again for any further work we do in the house, and I whole-heartedly recommend him for any job within your home.

Yours faithfully,

Barnaby Kay
